

“Throughout the day I was able to get some new insights into projects I am currently involved in. In general, I found the idea of using walking to free up minds very powerful and am hoping to use this in a business context in future.”

James Elliott,
Brandon Trust